■ Good Attempt, but...

Shorthanded Thunder falls short at Provincials

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

It's true that the Thunder's chances of winning provincial gold were a longshot, but not impossible. The Thunder, with only nine Midget players and one goalie, took seven Bantam players off last weekend's provincial gold team with them to Castor and hoped that this might be the answer, but unfortunately, it just wasn't to be.

We never like to make excuses, but the truth is they just didn't have the horsepower needed to win the provincial final tournament. The Thunder has never played with a lot of players. This season has been filled with injuries and suspensions, and with two of their best offensive players, Brian Poitras and Dallas Flamand gone overseas on a school trip, they just didn't have the goal scoring that those two can provide.

The bantams played their best but there is a size difference, sometimes as much as 40 or 50 lbs., that can be very intimidating to some of the smaller players.

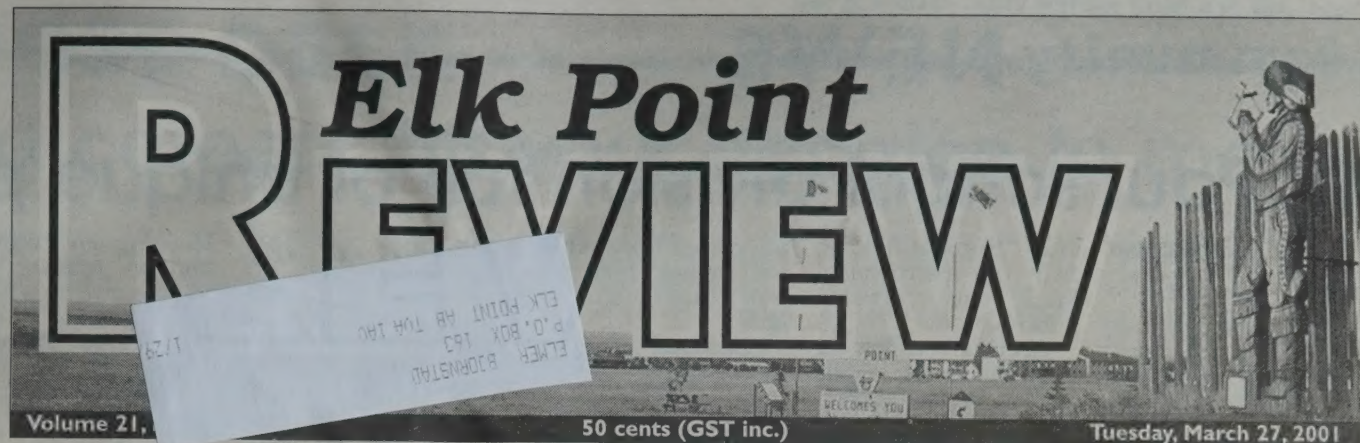

The big thing is, they never got embarrassed, never lost a game in a blow-out, each game could have gone either way, they played as well as they could, and we should be proud that this team hung together and won our zone and made it to the provincial final in the first place.

The first game Friday morning was their best, when they tied the host Castor 5-all, then lost a close game 3 to 1, Friday afternoon to a big team from Sangudo, making it a must-win situation for Saturday's game against Winfield, which they lost 4 to 0. Winfield was one of the strongest teams at the tournament and the favorite to win the gold.

Returning from Castor, the Thunder still have a really good shot at winning Tier 2 of the North East League with one round remaining against Cold Lake.

Coached by Shane St. Arnault, who's done an excellent job this year keeping things going, assistant coaches Ron Croteau and Marty Hines, the players are, from Dewberry: goalie Jon Cusack, defenseman Brandon Elliott, defenseman Mark Hines, defenseman Brian Wasylishen, and three veteran forwards who will be retiring from minor hockey, Dustin "Cookie" Molineux, centre Trent Robertson and forward Chad Tupper. From Elk Point, forward Shaun Slywka, the number one defensive forward on the team and a great two-way player all season, forward Melvin Easthope, with the hardest slapshot I've seen in all my years of minor hockey, and playing in his last minor hockey game, veteran defenseman and team captain Curtis Croteau.

Lions hosting blood donor clinic

Elk Point and District Lions Club spokesman Jonny Nielsen told last week's meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce that the club is taking on a new project. They are hosting the first blood donor clinic in Elk Point in many years. The clinic is slated for Tuesday, April 3 at the Seniors Recreation Centre, and the Lions hope at least 100 donors will attend.

"New" was the keyword at the meeting, with Dick Millar of the REACH Corporation introducing Tammy Bodnar, who has been hired by REACH as a youth development officer and who will be working on student mentoring projects in area schools. Small business seminars are also on the REACH agenda, and will be offered on a regular basis in Elk Point as well as other REACH area communities.

A new business is opening in the near future. Harold Lefebvre is opening a woodstove and fireplace store next door to the Town Office. The Chamber was also reminded about the grand opening of Danin Office Supplies on April 6.

Recycle
paper!

Too much news going to landfill

Elk Point Town Council is hoping you will recycle this paper when you've finished reading it.

A large percentage of the waste collected for transport to the sanitary landfill each week is made up of newspapers and cardboard, both of which can easily be recycled locally. Having just attended a meeting of the Northern Coordinated Action for Recycling Enterprises earlier in the day of their regular meeting, Council was eager to discuss the ways in which Elk Point can minimize the amount of material going to the landfill, while maximizing the material going to the local recycling depot.

Elk Point Bottle Depot accepts not only beverage bottles, cans and cartons, but also plastic milk jugs, used motor oil, newspapers and cardboard for recycling. Unfortunately, the depot is under-utilized by area residents. "He should be getting four times as much newspaper as he does now," one councillor noted. "It's all going to the landfill."

Also on the agenda for Council's March 13 meeting were plans to "pig" the Town's cast iron water lines this summer. Public Works superintendent Ron Fraess has indicated that the lines cannot currently be scanned by camera to determine their condition due to the buildup of material inside the lines, which would be removed by "pigging."

Council approved the expenditure of an additional $7000 to complete renovations to the Fire Hall and for furnishing the fire department office. Total cost of the renovation project is approximately $87,000.

Another increase from expected cost comes from the water treatment plant, which needs a breather pipe estimated to cost $3383 to complete recent upgrading.

St. Paul school division full of unique programs

By Joseline Gionet
Staff Writer

The St. Paul Education Regional Division #1 had a surplus of $988,27 last year.

Last year the Division received a total of $29,681,202 in funding and spent about $28,692,915.

This year won't be a surplus though, depending on how contract negotiations go with the instructional staff at division schools.

Secretary-treasurer Jean Champagne made a short budget presentation for the approximately 40 people in attendance at the division's annual general meeting on March 21.

Champagne explained to the onlookers described where education funding comes from, where the money goes and how that money is spent.

"Basically it ended up last year that we spent about $7,477 per student, roughly $38 per student a day," said Champagne.

Division principals also made short presentations of their own and spoke about various unique and important programs operating within the Division.

Two Hills Mennonite School

Larry Yarmuch made a small presentation about the new Mennonite school located on the bottom floor of the Two Hills Elementary School.

"The numbers are increasing continually. Students are coming from all over including Mexico and I've heard we may be getting some students from Bolivia. The students can't be placed into grades based on their ages though, and it's been a learning experience," said Yarmuch.

The students have integrated well into the school and there is respect for their religious and cultural beliefs.

There is a long-term commitment from the Mennonite community interested in continuing to use the school.

St. Paul Elementary Community School

St. Paul Elementary Community School is one of a few Catholic schools that operate under the Division's umbrella.

"It's a Christian learning environment and we operate with the premise of 'WWJD'. What would Jesus do?," said Principal Marie Anne Hébert.

Currently the school has 408 students.

Aboriginal School

Aboriginal, Métis and off-reserve students make up a large population in the St. Paul School Division. Lorne Young made a short presentation about the Aboriginal School.

"The majority of our students have the choice to go to school elsewhere, but they're attracted by our quality of education," said Young.

There are some challenges with attendance and completion rates at the school, but the challenge is very worthwhile.

"The kids contribute to a sense of community and family. The atmosphere there is just wonderful."

Poundmaker's School

Robert Prodaniuk spoke about Poundmaker's School and the important role it plays in the community.

Poundmaker's is a small school that deals with addicted children.

"We have to clear the addiction before we can get down to the business of learning," said Prodaniuk.

The school is becoming very well known and youth are being sent from all over Canada both through the judicial system and through social services.

They currently have a student from Nunavut and one from Nova Scotia and most students stay at the school for 90 days in the year, about 65 of those are school days.

"There's a constant turnover and we're open 12 months of the year. The staff rotates their holiday time."

Teen Parent program and Grade 9 transition

Konni DeGoeij made a quick presentation about a couple of programs at the St. Paul Regional High School.

"We are one of the only schools in rural Alberta with an on-site daycare. This is our fifth year of operation."

The school also operates a Grade 9 transition program that focuses on those students who drop out between Grade 9 and 10.

"Kids not doing well in Grade 9 join us in the transition program. We emphasize the Math and English programs and by the second semester we hope to have these students into mainstream Grade 10."

The transition program has a 90 per cent retention rate.

Problem Gambling

Many Alberta adults gamble as an occasional form of recreation. They spend an evening at a casino, pick up a lottery ticket, or drop a few loonies into a VLT. When the game is over, they go on to other activities.

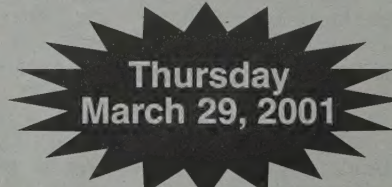

For some people, however, gambling becomes a problem as they spend more time or money on the games than they intend. If you are concerned about the impact gambling is having on your finances, relationships or some other aspect of your life, confidential help is available.

Changing careers: it's your decision to make

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Lately I have heard several people talk to me about their "what ifs". For example, "What would I be doing today if I had gone on for further education?" Or, "What if I would have taken a job in another location other than here, would I have had more chances for advancement?" The examples can go on - but the "what ifs" continue to be asked. This all reminds me of a story by an unknown author that reflects on the value of encouragement.

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, the famous 19th century poet and artist, was once approached by an elderly man. The old fellow had some sketches and drawings that he wanted Rossetti to look at and tell him if they were any good, or if they at least showed potential talent.

Rossetti looked them over carefully. After the first few, he knew that they were worthless, showing not the least sign of artistic talent. But Rossetti was a kind man, and he told the elderly man as gently as possible that the pictures were without much value and showed little talent. He was sorry, but he could not lie to the man.

The visitor was disappointed, but seemed to expect Rossetti's judgment. He then apologized for taking up Rossetti's time, but would he just look at a few more drawings - these done by a young art student?

Rossetti looked over the second batch of sketches and immediately became enthusiastic over the talent they revealed. "These," he said, "oh, these are good. This young student has great talent. He should be given every help and encouragement in his career as an artist. He has a great future if he will work hard and stick to it."

Rossetti could see that the old fellow was deeply moved. "Who is this fine young artist?" he asked. "Your son?"

"No," said the old man sadly. "It is me - 40 years ago. If only I had heard your praise then! For you see, I got discouraged and gave up - too soon."

Is life really this simple that we depend on encouragement from others to follow our dreams? The hard reality of today seems to indicate that encouragement may not come when we need it. It is almost a world of "succeed or not - you decide." The supportive system for each individual is not always out there. If this observation is acute, then it has got to be very hard for anyone entering or changing careers in the work world.

Did you know that

Colonel Sanders had the construction of a new road put him out of business in 1967? He went to over 1000 places trying to sell his chicken recipe before he found a buyer interested in his 11 herbs and spices. Seven years later, at the age of 75, Colonel Sanders sold his fried chicken company for a finger-lickin' $15 million! So think of the Colonel and keep trying to follow your dream. If you want to change careers - go for it!

"Spirit of the West" coming to Elk Point

Fans of the Sunday morning "Spirit of the West" show on CFCW Radio will be delighted to hear that cowboy poet, humorist and storyteller Hugh McLennan is coming to Elk Point on Friday, April 20.

McLennan will perform at a dinner and dance hosted by the Elk Point Ag Society Fairgrounds Division in the Elks Hall. The Pinantan Lake, BC, cattle rancher, horse trainer and broadcaster brings the experience of days spent under western skies to life in his entertaining presentations, which feature ranch stories, horse stories and cowboy poetry.

Tickets for this evening of good food, good music and western style entertainment are now available from Bailey's Western Wear in St. Paul, Lakeland Saddlery, Vermilion, Chris or Lynall at the Empress Restaurant in Elk Point, or by calling Josie Veer at 724-3030.

NEW LEOS SWORN IN - Lions Past District Governor Don Parkin swore in new members Sara Paproski, Josh Boyko and Tanya Orr to the Elk Point Leos Club last week, presenting each with a pin and explaining the significance of the Leos crest, which has lions looking both back and forward.

New members for Leos

Membership in the Elk Point Leos Club officially increased by three last week, when Lions Past District Governor Don Parkin initiated Sara Paproski, Tanya Orr and Josh Boyko into the club.

Club President Addison Bartholomew welcomed the new members to the group.

The Leos are a popular youth group in Elk Point, and are hosting a teen dance on April 6 in the Elk Point Seniors Recreation Centre. Like all Leos activities, the event will be smoke-free, alcohol-free, drug-free, and well supervised.

VIEWPOINTS

FINE ARTS NIGHT visitors were entertained by numerous musical numbers, performed by individuals and groups such as this quartet, made up of Scott Lindquist, Brandon Holthe, Valerie Friesen and instructor Randall Kryz.

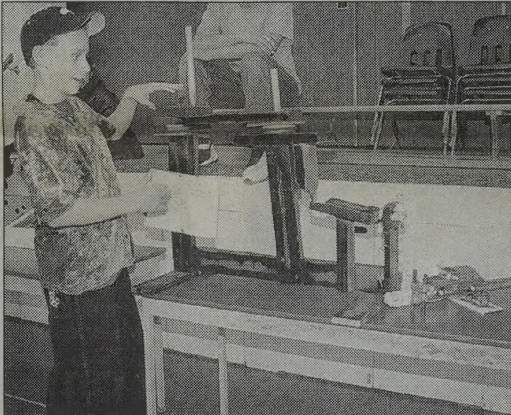

PROUD PARENTS AND GRANDPARENTS enjoyed the variety of artwork by talented F. G. Miller students, including this display by the Grade 9s.

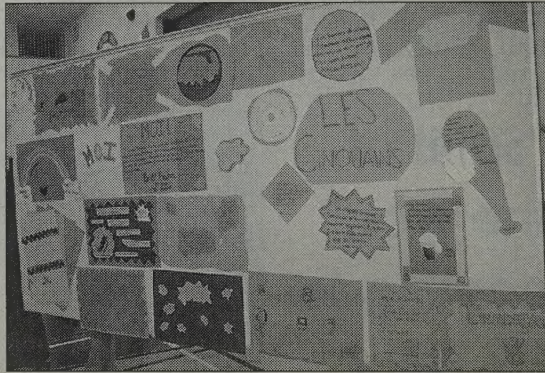

YOUNG SCIENTISTS Troy Bober and April Paley show the effects of heat and cold on atmospheric pressure with this crumpled barrel, a class project that took them to the County Science Fair in Mallaig recently.

Fine arts and more at FGM

A VERY COMPLICATED LIGHT SWITCH by Addison Bartholomew uses numerous mechanical principles to get the job done and light up the bulb.

EN FRANÇAIS - The junior high French classes showed off their work in an eye-catching display.

MASKS AND METAL WORK were part of the Grade 8 display at Fine Arts Night.

Creativity knows no bounds at high school open house

Students of F. G. Miller High School showed off the results of this year's projects at An Evening of Fine Arts on Monday, March 19.

The school gymnasium was lined with exhibits, ranging from artwork of all types to science projects and cultural displays, while a number of music students and their instructor offered very pleasant entertainment.

Grade 7 artwork featured pointillism animals, super heroes and cartoon figures, as well as paintings in the northern style of Ted Harrison and animal silhouettes. Imaginative clay figures, pottery, sewing and woodworking projects showed additional forms of artistic talent.

The Grade 8 display offered a variety of masks, cubist art and striking black and white cutwork, as well as crafts ranging from sock snowmen to garlands to welding and creative writing.

The Grade 9s showed a variety of art media, from pencil drawings to ink to extremely fine watercolors, along with stuffed animals and words turned into pictures.

Grade 10 Home Economics projects and artwork, featuring the imaginative drawings of Cole May, was next in line, followed by a display of dream catchers, beadwork and a bead loom from the Cree 10 class.

Across the room, the Junior High French classes filled a double-sided display with examples of their class projects, alongside a row of interesting science projects.

Up on the balcony were the beginnings of a new school mural, featuring Crusaders at play in various sports, alongside the armored Crusader himself.

Out in the common area, visitors were intrigued by the language arts assignments, castle models and posters which resulted from the Grade 9 academic challenge stemming from the reading of Edgar Allan Poe's short story, "The Masque of the Red Death."

Fanciful cityscapes from the mural contest and other framed artwork from previous years also drew much attention.

Community Choir and Friends revive '60s TV hit at sellout Dinner Theatre 2001

Elk Point Community Choir and Friends have done it again, with jobs, professions and school books forgotten entirely for the past two weekends as 19 amateur thespians stepped into the roles of Agent 86, Agent 99, the Chief, Mr. Big and a motley crew of students, professors and spies for the 2001 dinner theatre production, "Get Smart."

A top secret test is underway on a Washington, DC university campus, under the auspices of esteemed scientist, Professor Dante (Kelly Burke) and his assistant, Professor Zalinka (Vicki Lumley), and it is feared that the prototype of an extraordinary machine could be a target for the villainous KAOS. Poor Agent 44 (Ken Yettaw), one of the good guys from CONTROL, that respected agency of good and right, is keeping an eye on things from under the table and in the trash basket, but he's really not enjoying his surveillance stint.

But that's only half of the story. The multi-talented Shaun Sheplaw, who has taken on personas ranging from a radical student to a ballad-crooning Elvis to original thinker, Mike, from Canmore, stars as Maxwell Smart, with St. Paul student Kelsey Mueller as his right hand woman, Agent 99. Kelsey's dad, Glen Avon teacher Udo Mueller, is the Chief of CONTROL, while F. G. Miller teacher Lawrence Pidluzny is his archenemy, Mr. Big of KAOS. F. G. Miller student Romy Rohner stars as the lovely Princess Ingrid, whom the Chief has appointed Smart and 99 to guard with their lives.

Blondes are being kidnapped for no apparent reason, and the Chief doesn't the same fate to befall the princess. There's even an agent in a bus depot locker keeping an eye on her arrival.

Unfortunately, Princess Ingrid doesn't want to be guarded, she doesn't want to visit museums, she wants to kick up her heels and hit such nightspots as the infamous Fortune Cookie Club. While Max is waxing eloquent about the wonderful sights to be seen in Washington, she quietly slips out of the room, just before Mr. Big phones Max to tell him he has the missing blondes and will torture them if Max and 99 make any moves to search for the princess. Torture, indeed, as we can see on the other half of the stage - they're typical teenage types making enthusiastic noises over the rock music leaking out of their earphones.

Agent 44 shows up at the Fortune Cookie Club, and we wonder who's guarding the prototype. Why, it's Mr. Big himself, who has captured not only the device, but Professor Dante and Princess Ingrid as well... and he's going to use the prototype to blow up one of America's national treasures.

Meanwhile, Max and 99 are at the fabulously ornate Fortune Cookie Club, where one of the Oriental waitresses is a blue eyed blonde who looks suspiciously like Princess Ingrid. The quartet use "the old Chinese waitress trick" to tie up Max and 99, and Mr. Big smugly tells the captives that Professor Zelinka is one of his KAOS agents. The princess is left to guard Max and 99, and Max decides she has been brainwashed. He deprograms her and the three escape, in time to collect the professor and witness the explosion of the speedboat carrying Mr. Big, the Orientals and the prototype - a real "Dante's inferno."

The Chief's secretary (Janelle Hodinsky) is discovered to have been wearing the bug all along, the princess decides she's homesick and heading home, and Smart, who has saved the day, goes to call the US president. Would you believe.. he gets Mr. Brezhnev instead?

Also starring in the play were Peter Makarus, Jim Coleman, Debbie Lawrence, Erin Mueller, Erin Pederson, Kalli-Jo Coleman, Jan Kozicky, Tanya Orr, John Gottenbos and Mabel Gottenbos. Mrs. Gottenbos was joined by Dixie Coleman in creating the costumes, while Ellen Seward and Debbie Lawrence were in charge of makeup. Dave Pilisko was the stage manager, while Rob Walker, assisted by son Cale, were in charge of lighting and sound.

Randall Kryz, Colin Bjorkman and Tammy Robinson contributed to the special effects.

IT LOOKS LIKE GREAT SERVICE at the Fortune Cookie Club, but the attentive servers soon turn the tables on Agent 99 and Agent 86, who find themselves tied to their chairs instead of enjoying a fancy dinner.

Last hurrah for men's hockey

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Spring is officially here, even though some days feel colder than it did most of this winter, but the time has come to dump out the hockey bag, wash and pack it away and take some time off before the ball and soccer season starts.

And what a great way to end the year. The "Last Hurrah" this past weekend with four teams participating at the Dome, the final weekend in the battle of the bulge, the triple "A" beer league provincial finals, as they say. The teams qualifying for the finals, Jorvik, the B & R Bullets, Myrnam Crooked Shooters and from Edmonton, Wenzel Downhole Tools. A good time was had by all, some more than others. The Bullets and Jorvik ended the tournament tied with two wins each, but because Jorvik defeated the Bullets in the first game, Friday night in an 11 to 10 end-to-end shootout, I'm afraid to say it but I must, this is really tough, Jorvik is the official gold medal winner of the tournament, winning the bragging rights for the summer. The Bullets getting second, the silver beer stein. As the Bullets goaltender Kendall Zarowny would say, "Where's the defense?" The Bullets have four Russian defensemen.

Wenzel, losing a close game Friday night with Myrnam 6 to 5, then losing to the Bullets Saturday morning 10 to 6, were the only team to defeat Jorvik, in another close one 5 to 4 on Saturday afternoon, with an ex-Elks goaltender Dwayne "Wally"

Wolanuk playing an absolutely awesome game for Wenzel against some of his old teammates.

A big Happy Birthday today to my little buddy, Tyson Moneta, a micro novice Tornados player who had a great year, playing in his first year of hockey.

I truly apologize for missing a player from last week's Bantam Gold Medal team roster and profile. Kelly "the Menace" Calliou, a skillful playmaker with a good shot that can fool most goalies.

And once again, it's the Keith Campbell hockey trivia time. Outspoken broadcaster and former Boston Bruins coach, and a very good friend of you-know-who, Don Cherry played in only one NHL game. For which team, and who did they play against in that game? Last week's trivia answer: The Philadelphia Flyers.

Pedestrian hit

Elk Point RCMP are investigating a vehicle/pedestrian collision that occurred on Saturday, March 17, 2001 at approximately 9:30 p.m. The collision occurred on Secondary #897 on the Frog Lake First Nations Reserve, approximately 40 km east of Elk Point. A northbound Pontiac struck a 22 year old male who had been walking on the travel portion of the highway. The pedestrian, Richard Stanley, was by ambulance to Elk Point Health Centre and then later transported to the University of Alberta suffering numerous fractured bones and is presently listed in critical but stable condition. Elk Point RCMP continue to investigate the collision and alcohol appears to have been a contributing factor. Police do not anticipate any charges being laid against the driver of the Pontiac, who was unhurt in the collision.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Going to college or university? Come see us first!

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

Once again, it's that time of year when students in the area start visiting various colleges and universities. In one short day it is difficult to obtain all the information you need to make an informed decision about your future. Why not visit your local library and check out the college and university websites on our public access computers.

You do not need a membership to use the computers or read in a quiet, comfortable atmosphere. The library is open to everyone.

Some other materials you may want to consider when making that all-important decision are:

Job Futures - two-volume sets that will give you all the facts and figures on today's careers and see what's in store for the future. Visit <http://www.hrdc-drhc.gc.ca/JobFutures>

The Debt Free Graduate - how to survive college or university without going broke. Some incentive ideas on how to get the best summer job, how to negotiate with a bank, how to eat, drink and be merry on a budget.

Going to University

- a Canadian guide for students in grades 9 - 12 and their parents is a guide full of information for university bound students and their parents.

And last but not least, help for those over-stressed parents: Don't Tell Me What To Do, Just Send Money, the essential parenting guide to the college years.

Also the following websites may be of help to your search:

www.Edu.gov.ab.ca
www.alis.gov.ab.ca/learning

And now, some suggestions for that all-important summer job: Getting Hired - everything you need to know about resumes, interviews and job hunting strategies.

Your First Resume - the comprehensive guide for college students or anyone preparing to enter or reenter the job market.

Your First Job- How to Find It, How to Land It, How to Keep It - a must for anyone preparing to enter today's tough job market.

Coming up at the library, don't forget the Seniors Tea on Tuesday, April 3. Wear your Easter bonnet and come on down for an afternoon of goodies and good conversation.

Remember, there is Storytime every Friday morning at the Library, starting at 10:30 a.m. Bring down your preschoolers!

The Church is still relevant today!

By Rev. Jope Langejans
Elk Point United Church

There has been considerable debate lately on the issue of church relevancy and if we are subject to declining numbers and/or declining visibility. This can only be argued if the definition of 'church' becomes a structural place of worship or a centralization of denominational thought. What has transpired over the years is a different way that we do 'church'. What once seemed normative and necessary has now transformed into more of a social and a spiritual consciousness that transformed into more of a social and spiritual consciousness that makes our presence felt in all areas that you live and work in. What has ultimately come about is that God's visibility is not only contained in weekly worship or Bible study but becomes evident in the world arena and how we relate to each other.

The word 'church' defined simply is "the Lord's house" or "the whole body of Christians." These definitions also carry a strong component of public divine worship and allude to a distinct gathering of individuals coming together as a community of faith. What is often overlooked and sometimes hidden is the countless hours and energy that is put into outreach programs and social liberation initiatives that are transformative and God-centred. This is the relevancy that the church has been called and invited to become part of. As Jesus' ministry, which was not only based in the synagogues that He frequented on a regular basis, we have come to learn that to be viable as a church, our vision had to encompass all aspects of daily life. Jesus lived and taught

Trip of the Month

Big winner of the March draw in the Elk Point Lioness Trip of the Month Club was Claire Mahdiuk of St. Paul, who won the trip to Varadero, Cuba. Second and third prizes of $100 each went to Cathy Ockerman of Elk Point and Sharon and Gary Ballas. Next draw is scheduled for Wednesday, April 18, 2001.

in some of the most adverse places and situations, and from these examples, we have laid down the cornerstones of our mission and our mandate: "The church is wherever God's people are living." This is not meant to take away from the importance of regular worship that is experienced as a community of faith. Coming together and seeking empowerment and being 'fed' is necessary when we are invited to journey with each other and to live with respect in creation. What may be surprising is the level of relevancy that we do have in terms of everyday life. The message, the music, the prayers, the fellowship, the sharing of the sacraments, have all evolved into a place where God speaks to us where we are at. Whether you are a traditionalist, a liberationist, a conservative or one steeped in liturgical worship practices matters not. We, in Elk Point and area, are blessed with the options of places to worship where we feel invited and comfortable. Countless people in the world would call us very fortunate indeed!

Are we relevant? Darn tootin'! Your ministry personnel go through many years of training, not only theologically based but also in all areas of psychology, sociology and all other aspects of pastoral care. We want to make sure that the message of God's love touches each and everyone, regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation, economic situation or any other debilitating action that produces marginalization. Come and join us some day—you will be surprised!

Are you a teen experiencing problems with alcohol, drugs or gambling?

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN (never known to fail)

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary I place this prayer in your hands (three times). Say this prayer three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be grant to you.
